“WHAT I LOVE ABOUT MY CHURCH”

Here are some of the comments listed for the question above.

- A good sermon
- The people who all feel like family, my circle Bible study,
- The sanctuary, it is peaceful and awe inspiring.
- The Christmas angels and the Easter display.
- The Wired Word, quilting.
- The presence of the Lord Jesus Christ who brings me here every Sunday.
- Breakfast, the members, the book club, small group Bible Studies and other gatherings.
- Ruth Circle and all the things we share. The willingness to pray for the concerns we all have.
- The sense of unity among the members.
- I love it when we have a drive for anything, be it food-sox-Thanksgiving baskets-towels. The people at Bethel donate generously and happily.
- I especially love the fellowship here, quilting and circle meetings.
- The new effort to revitalize.
- The friendly people, very caring, the gospel being preached, the 1st Sunday breakfasts, pulling together in time of change.

The breakfasts were mentioned by many as was Bible study and quilting, friendly people and the beauty of the church.

WE HAVE AN INTERIM PASTOR!

Effective November 1st we will be welcoming Pastor Dick Wendt as our interim pastor. He will be guiding us, not only in worship but also in the call process for our re-development pastor. We will post the pastor's work schedule on line and in the Bethel Week. He will be working part time - 20 hours per week.

Thanksgiving

We have been the recipients of the choicest bounties of heaven; we have been preserved these many years in peace and prosperity; we have grown in numbers, wealth and power as no other nation has grown.

But we have forgotten God. We have forgotten the gracious hand which preserved us in peace and multiplied and enriched and strengthened us, and we have vainly imagined, in the deceitfulness of our hearts, that all these blessings were produced by some superior wisdom and virtue of our own. Intoxicated with unbroken success we have become too self-sufficient to feel the necessity of redeeming and preserving grace, too proud to pray to the God that made us.

It has seemed to me fit and proper that God should be solemnly, reverently and gratefully acknowledged, as with one heart and one voice, by the whole of the American people. I do therefore invite my fellow citizens in every part of the United States, and also those who are at sea and those who are sojourning in foreign lands, to set apart and observe the last Thursday of November as a day of Thanksgiving and praise to our beneficent Father who dwelleth in the heavens.

(Abraham Lincoln 1863 Thanksgiving Proclamation)

STEWARDSHIP: THE MINISTRY OF GENEROSITY

And Moses said to God,
"Who am I that I should go to Pharaoh and bring the Israelites out of Egypt?"
Exodus 3: 12 (NIV)

Exodus 3 and 4 tells us that Moses felt inadequate to do what the Lord was instructing him to do. He had a lot of excuses—I'm nobody special, what if they don't believe you sent me, give me a trick to perform to prove it, I am slow of speech and finally he said, politely, send someone else!

The Bible is full of people who were happily obedient to God's call, but in this instance, Moses was not one of them. He certainly was not like Isaiah who said, 'Here I am; send me!' (Isaiah 6:8)

Most of us are like Moses. We like to live our normal lives, giving just enough to God so that it doesn't cause us too much discomfort or pain. We put some money into the collection plate, drop off a donation to the Goodwill, or say a short prayer for someone in church on Sunday. Your relationship with God could be so much deeper if you let Him lead you, if you let Him in.

Sometimes we might feel that God is asking us to do more, and we reply with Moses' excuses....I am nobody, I don't have the money or the skill, I'm not talented, and no one would listen to me. Please Lord; don't ask me to do that, I just can't!

Every one of us does this to some extent. However, if you let God lead you, you will be surprised with what He can do through you. He made each of us for a purpose and gifted us in a way that we can carry out His purpose as He intended. Trust Him; He has a plan for your life.

God told Moses after each excuse that He would be with him, and that he would use him to do great things. He tells us the same. Let the Lord take you out of your normal routine, as he did with Moses. He wants to use you too; He wants you to use the gifts and talents that He has given you.

Ask Him for opportunities to express your love and faith. Go and be His hands, His feet and His voice, for His glory.

WOMEN'S THANKOFFERING SUNDAY NOVEMBER 13TH

Women of the Lutheran Church have been gathering for Thankofferings since the early 1900s. It is a tradition grounded in our celebration of community. Thankofferings show gratitude for God's blessings. We are called to offer with joy and thanksgiving what God has first given to us. Thankofferings help Women of the ELCA provide resources, events, and programs. Thankofferings also support the organizations' crucial annual gift to the ELCA.

HOLIDAYS FOR THE HOMELESS

In addition to our Thanksgiving Baskets and Christmas Giving Tree for a Latch Family and Compass Center, we will be giving gift cards and movie tickets to Mary's Place for Homeless Women. They include these as part of their gifts to the women at Christmas. Thrivent Financial for Lutherans will provide the funds for the gift cards from the North Seattle Chapter in a total of $500. Judy and Carol will purchase the cards and deliver to Mary's Place.

November reading-December discussion
Miss Peregrine's Home for Peculiar Children
by Ransom Riggs

A mysterious island. An abandoned orphanage.
A strange collection of very curious photographs.

It all waits to be discovered in Miss Peregrine's Home for Peculiar Children, an unforgettable novel that mixes fiction and photography in a thrilling reading experience. As our story opens, a horrific family tragedy sets sixteen-year-old Jacob journeying to a remote island off the coast of Wales, where he discovers the crumbling ruins of Miss Peregrine's Home for Peculiar Children. As Jacob explores its abandoned bedrooms and hallways, it becomes clear that the children were more than just peculiar. They may have been dangerous. They may have been quarantined on a deserted island for good reason. And somehow—impossible though it seems—they may still be alive.

A spine-tingling fantasy illustrated with haunting vintage photography, Miss Peregrine's Home for Peculiar Children will delight adults, teens, and anyone who relishes an adventure in the shadows.

FALL INGATHERING

On October 21st Bethel delivered for the ingathering for Lutheran World Relief:

- 37 quilts
- 96 personal care kits
- 102 school kits

Thanks Chuck and Wally for delivering the items and thank you quilters for all your hard work!

A lot was accomplished in just 3 quilting sessions!

"The prayers said around the tying tables in Spokane, sewing machines in so many church basements, Sunday school tables and sanctuaries all over the United States truly weave the Holy Spirit into each and every quilt that comes through LWR's doors. As those quilts are wrapped around the shoulders and spirits of those who receive them - over 300,000 people in 2010 alone - we know that God's Spirit is moving, renewing, and carrying His incredible love all over the world." LUTHERAN MALARIA INITIATIVE

An unprecedented and historic partnership of Lutheran World Relief and the Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod. Our goal is to mobilize U.S. Lutherans to raise awareness of malaria and its daily impact on the lives of people in Africa and to raise $45 million in the global effort to help end malaria deaths in Africa by 2015. LMLI is made possible through support from the United Nations Foundation.

Building on the success and strength of our networks already in place, the mission in Africa is straightforward: to teach people to recognize the symptoms of malaria, promote prevention and provide treatment and prevention resources.

Why Lutherans?

Christ's example of unconditional mercy forms our Lutheran response to malaria. We are called to serve the vulnerable and to respond with love, care and help to those suffering among us.

Lutherans have a storied history of helping people in need around the world. By combining proven field strategies, expertise and resources, LMI brings together a worldwide network of Lutheran partner churches, missionaries and service providers in the fight against malaria.

Every 45 seconds a child dies from malaria, a disease that is both preventable and treatable. There is global momentum to fight malaria. The will is present. The knowledge is present. It is now our time to be present to make a difference in the lives of millions of people.

How can I help?

Pray for those suffering from malaria and for those working to prevent, treat and contain the disease.

Learn more about malaria and then tell everyone you know.

Get involved by inspiring and inviting people to participate.

Give a gift to LMI. Your generosity will enable us to respond and serve our brothers and sisters in Africa.

A woman was asked by a co-worker, "What is it like to be a Christian?"

The co-worker replied, "It is like being a pumpkin. God picks you from the patch, brings you in, and washes all the dirt off of you. Then He cuts the top off and scoops out all the yucky stuff. He removes the seeds of doubt, hate, and greed. Then He carves you a new smiling face and puts His light inside of you to shine for all the world to see."

MISSIONARY NEWS

UPDATE
FROM
TOM AND MARY
HOLMAN

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,
Thank you for your prayers for my foot. I've been able to walk and even exercise, but I still try to elevate it when I sit down.

From October 10-19, we will be attending a retreat in Galveston, Texas, followed by an international Bible translation conference in Dallas. We trust that these will be beneficial both spiritually and professionally.

After our return from Texas we have just a month until we depart for Ghana on November 20. Please pray that we will be wise in setting priorities for rest, reflection, study, family visits, shopping, and packing.

We will arrive in Ghana on November 21st, and on the 25th we will fly to Nigeria for the start of the Gwoza Hills Translation Project. Tom and I will each be working with a new language. Please pray for a good start for us, especially since I will be working with a language that is much different from Waja, the language I worked with in the last project.

Thank you for praying. Your prayers are our "first line of defense" in bringing God's Word to those who don't have it in their heart language.

God's blessings,
Mary

God's Generous Response by The Rev. Wm Chris Boerger, Bishop

How do we give thanks this year? That is not a question about what is on the menu for the annual Thanksgiving Feast. It is a question about how we see our world and ourselves. Walter Brueggemann in his book Journey to the Common Good argues that the forces of empire and Pharaoh are always working from the scarcity, fear and control. In contrast, the people of Israel learned in the Wilderness that God brings abundance, shalom and the presence of God. He argues that Jesus' feeding miracles continue this pattern. We live in a time when our consumer culture wonders if there will be enough (scarcity). Our threats used to be color coded and the world seems out of control. Brueggemann argues that this is how the world is when we ignore the Word of the Lord that has come to us. It is a compelling argument.

It is easy to over-focus on what we don't have or what we might lose. While our anxiety increases, our fears look to quick fixes so that we can say that we are doing something about our situations. Our desire for a church that was like we remember is a symptom of our participation in this longing. Like the people of Israel complaining in the wilderness that they at least had meat when they lived in Egypt, so we look back with longing to times that were not as good as we remember them. The Word of the Lord came to.....That is the good news in Brueggemann's analysis.

The Word became flesh and lived among us. That is the good news for us. Our relationship with God and with the rest of creation comes from the abundance of God who comes among us. Samuel Torvend argues that our response to the poor comes from God's abundance at the Eucharist. Our life together, the common good, is based in God's abundant and generous response in creating and re-creating us.

The harvest is in. The economists will tell us if we have enough. The people of faith should rise up and affirm that we have more than enough. We have the blessings of God to share and these blessings, like manna, are sufficient for each day. We give thanks to God for God's presence in countless ways. So the food that we eat, we can share. The grace that we live in is not ours, but God's to be extravagantly poured out into the world. The hope that we have comes from God.

Thanks be to God

Congratulation Leymah Gbowee!

Just two days before learning that she was a recipient of the 2011 Nobel Peace Prize, Leymah Gbowee was speaking to a captivated audience at Queen Anne Lutheran Church in Seattle. The Nobel Peace prize was awarded to Gbowee for "non-violent struggle for the safety of women and for women's rights to full participation in peace-building work." Gbowee, a member of the Lutheran Church in Liberia, is responsible for organizing a non-violent women's movement that brought an end to a 14-year civil war in Liberia. The starting point of the women's move ment was war fatigue, said Gbowee, a mother of six children. She grew tired of watching children die from hunger and “waking up every morning and not knowing whether a tomorrow was possible. You can’t plan for the future.” Along with thousands of other women from across Liberia, Gbowee wanted to dream of a better community. She decided it was time to stop the war and called together women of all faiths—Christian, Muslim, indigenous and others—from across Liberia to “step out,” recognizing that Liberian women can play a critical role in peace building. Gbowee’s story is chronicled in the documentary Pray the Devil Back to Hell. She has just completed her memoir, Mighty Be Our Powers: How Sisterhood, Prayer, and Sex Changed a Nation at War -- a book that examines “the power of women and the power of faith in getting you (out) from the darkest place in your life,” she said. Gbowee was a keynote speaker at this year’s Triennial Gathering in Spokane. For the full press release on Gbowee please visit www.elca.org.

Northwest Washington Synodical Women’s Organization Convention

Convention highlights October 8, 2011

Three business meetings were held during the day before during and after meeting in the beautiful new sanctuary at Queen Anne Lutheran Church. We shared prayers and many songs in the morning and afternoon while business was conducted. The budget for 2012-2014 was approved, new board members were elected and we enjoyed the keynote speaker Betty Brandt. She also brought us up to date on the programs offered by Churchwide WELCA.

Seventy one women attended the convention comprised of 18 delegates, board members and observers. Bishop Chris Boerger greeted us from the NW Washington Synod, thanking WELCA for their programs and ministries. A special report was given on Keymah Gbowee. She was a key note speaker at the July Triennial convention and is close to the heart of the members of Queen Anne Lutheran. The members had hosted her recently when Keymah was here for a book tour. It had just been announced that morning, that Keymah had been one of the recipients of the 2011 Nobel Peace Prize. She was honored for mobilizing women across ethnic and religious dividing lines to bring an end to the long war in Liberia, and to ensure women’s participation in elections. The movie “Pray the Devil back to Hell” is the story of her struggle and success in bringing peace to Liberia.

There were two workshop opportunities at the convention, each presented twice so everyone could attend each presentation. Pastor Craig Lofthus from The Fathers Ranch in Tonasket WA., a Bible based residential counseling ministry for women and girls, spoke about the ranch’s program for addictions of various kinds. He also shared a short video about the ranch whose program lasts for 6 months to a year and is free to all. The women work on the ranch and receive counseling while applying the Bible to their lives. Of those who complete the program the success rate is 98%.

The other speaker was Donna Oiland “A Wise Woman Cultivates a Contented Heart”. Her speaking ministry is called “Radiant Joy”. She works in the Dept. of Spiritual Care at Evergreen Healthcare in Kirkland WA. She is a certified laugh leader with the World Laughter Tour and does educational programs for Cancer Lifeline. The comments from the attendees were very positive for both of these presentations.

The day ended with a closing worship service with Eucharist by Pastor Wayne Bacus Queen Anne.

- Lynlee Ritchie, Delegate.

Honor our veterans

Veterans Day, which is November 11 each year, is a holiday to honor America’s veterans for their patriotism and willingness to serve and sacrifice for our nation’s common good.

Christians follow the Prince of Peace, so war is a dilemma that often challenges people of faith. Some Christians are pacifists, while others believe in a “just war.” Many believe that the goals of freedom, justice, equality and democracy are worth the cost required.

Whatever individual Christians decide about any given conflict, most Christians believe that men and women who strive to make this world free of tyrants are to be respected. As Winston Churchill said, “Never in the field of human conflict was so much owed by so many to so few.”

Thank you to all the men and women who served or are now serving our country.

“I have never understood why anyone would roast the turkey and shuck the clams and crisp the croutons and shell the peas and candy the sweet potatoes and compote the cranberries and bake the pies and clear the table and wash the dishes and fall into bed exhausted when they could just as easily sit back and enjoy a hamburger or a pork sandwich.”
